

The World Today

There are seven continents in the world today.

Asia, Africa, and Europe are all far away.

Australia is an island surrounded by the sea.

Antarctica is a place too cold
for you and me.

North America is the place I want to be.

South America is the land I'd like to see.

With all these wonderful places on Earth to roam,

I wonder why E.T. wanted to go home.